DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being fully met by Grubb et al.

Grubb et al discloses a system and method for stochastic score following which comprises an audio unit 12, audio recognition unit / microprocessor unit / display unit 14.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 12,13,15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grubb et al in view of Ishii.

Grubb et al (applied here in a similar manner as above) discloses all features claimed, but does not explicitly disclose the recited page changing unit or touch unit. Ishii discloses a musical score display which comprises touch units 13,14,21 and page changing unit 5. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to adapt the teachings of Grubb in view of Ishii, so as to allow for further control of the page display by the user.

Claims 8-11,14,18,19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Van Den Abbeel, Uehara, Jasinski, Otsuka are further cited to show related teachings in the art.
